Women in Politics: Winning the Women's Vote

Gloria Campos

Wednesday, February 8 - 5:00 p.m.

Paul Simon Public Policy Institute Lobby

Gloria Campos was a woman without a country. However, she proudly claims the United States as her adopted home—where she has reunited her family after seeking political asylum from her native Nicaragua and worked tirelessly to build a respected business. As a naturalized citizen she has exercised her freedom to engage in the political process by being a faithful voter and a leader of the Republican National Hispanic Assembly. Her passion is to get other Latinos engaged in the political process.
